Fire Brigade office to be demolished

New building will be on Heritage lines

Mysuru, Sept. 10 (RK&BCT)- The 121-year-old Fire Brigade Station, a heritage building, in Saraswathipuram that has partially collapsed is all set to be demolished and will be fully built on the heritage lines.

A clearance from the Mysuru Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar, who is also the Chairman of the District Heritage Committee, is awaited and the DC is expected to seek the opinion from the Heritage Experts.

M.N. Reddi, the Director General of Police (Fire and Emergency Services) has written to Chief Fire Officer, Mysuru to reconstruct the building in consultation with the District Administration and the Heritage Committee. The front portion (portico) of the structure that was built in 1898 collapsed on Aug. 9 and almost 15 days later, the debris were cleared.

After the portico collapsed, a meeting of Public Works Department, Heritage Department and the Fire Department was held in Bengaluru under the chairmanship of Reddi and it was decided to demolish the building and reconstruct the same on heritage lines. The decision was taken as the structure was not fit for occupancy and unsafe for human life. The strength of the building has reduced over the years due to wear and tear, the meeting observed.

Following the meeting, Reddi's Office wrote to Younus Ali Kauser, the Chief Fire Officer of Mysuru. As per plans, the entire building will be demolished. The 19,059.08 Square Metre building campus has the offices of fire officers and over 50 official quarters accommodating 70 staffers.

A horsey task

Mysuru, Sept. 10 (LNY&BCT)- Ask any horse riding expert and he will say that you will need at least six months to learn to ride a horse safely. But our Mayor Pushpalatha Jagannath does not have six months to learn horse riding and she has to complete it in less than one month.

She will lead the world famous Jumboo Savari on Oct. 8, marking the end of the 10-day Dasara celebrations on a horseback. And to achieve this feat, she is undergoing a crash course and three horse riding experts are assisting her every day. She has begun her practice sessions yesterday and every day she has to ride a horse from 6 am to 7 am.

Rising up even before 5 am, Pushpalatha reaches the Mounted Police Company Horse Park opposite City Armed Reserve Grounds near Golf Club where the practice sessions are held. It is here, all horse riding practices go on for any major or regular event in Mysuru.

Every Dasara, Mysuru Mayor is expected to lead a procession of Dasara elephants with the main elephant (Arjuna now) carrying the 750-kg Golden Howdah. While Arjuna will lead a contingent of 12 to 14 Dasara elephants, the procession will also have over 10 horses, more than 15 tableaux, over 50 folk dance groups and traditional drummers from the Mysore Palace to Bannimantap, covering a distance of five kilometres.

Concerns Concerning Consequences

The air was abuzz for some days, weeks and months during the recent past with India aiming at becoming a five-trillion-dollar economy by the year 2022 and get into the bracket of world's three or four top economies. Going by media reports, the country's current economic health has been witnessing a slow down as a result of which many leading industries are resorting to lay off the workforce in numbers that is cause for concern. One of the factors being highlighted in this context is a steep spike in the sales of automobiles, particularly four-wheelers and transport vehicles manufactured by the majors of the manufacturing sector. While the immediate consequence of the steep shortfall in the sales of motorised vehicles is also a sharp rise in the land's unemployment, the other obvious consequences of a steady rise in the sales of automobiles looms large, namely cluttering of roads across the land's urban spaces, polluted air, vanishing parking space and so on. In a fire-fighting measure of sorts, the automobile manufacturers are mulling exploration of rural markets for their bulging inventory.

Having got accustomed to the all-too-familiar life style, marked by consumerism in its widest meaning, the land's people, particularly the urbanites, shall find it well-nigh impossible to unwind and undo the many consequences, the most critical resource that is bound to become scarce in rising graph being drinking water, making civic authorities spending sleepless nights. The plight of rural populations is bound to be grim if consumerism grips the rustics.

The running mate of consumerism, namely utilitarianism, coming in its wake the desire to maximise happiness and a feeling of well-being for the majority of the population is bound to cause stress on life-supporting resources, including living space and fertile soil to raise food crops. In this backdrop, the urbanites are obliged to revisit their ways of life, especially unchecked consumption of water, fossil fuels and also electricity, more for enjoyment than meeting the minimum needs of daily life. Whether their conduct is morally right or wrong depends on the effects that are cause for concern. Does anybody need to be reminded about the unabated and flagrant violations of human rights, land's laws and garbage generation in quantities beyond human ingenuity to regulate the mass.

In the words of British Philosopher Jeremy Bentham (1748-1832), utilitarian actions, although result in happiness of all people call for evaluation of their consequences. Urbanites don't seem to care less while rustics seem to be inured to moderation in consuming life-supporting resources.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The United States was built on two crimes against humanity. The first was the extermination of the native populations of the regions now known as America. The European invasion wiped out 90 per cent of the original inhabitants. The second was slavery, which kept millions in bondage. Slavery ended after horrific violence in which hundreds of thousands of Americans died. More American soldiers were killed in their civil war fighting one another than all of India's dead in all our wars, all of our insurgencies and all the wars on Her Majesty's behalf that India's mercenary army fought. —Aakar Patel in Business Standard

Mom-of-two weds a tree

England: A woman who has married a tree in a ceremony at a Merseyside park says she has a serious reason for her wedding vows. Kate Cunningham, 34, from Melling, tied the knot at Rimrose Valley Park in Litherland as family and friends watched on.

Wearing an olive green dress, a home made skirt and, green pumps, Cunningham married the elder tree in the Chaffers Field section of the park. The bride also announced that she would be changing her name by deed poll to mark the occasion. She will now be known as Kate Rose 'Elder', after the species of tree to which she is now wed.

Speaking ahead of her big day, the mum of two, explained: "At first it was just an idea. Then we decided that we were going to make it happen. It's a great day for all the local community to come together." The stunt is the latest attempt by locals to halt plans to build a new bypass through Rimrose Valley.

Man parks Smart car in kitchen

Florida: It started as a light-hearted challenge between a Florida couple, can a Smart car fit into their kitchen? The answer: Yes it can. Patrick Eldridge parked his smart car in his kitchen to protect it from Hurricane Dorian because he didn't want it to "blow away" and to prove that he can park his car there.

Jessica Eldridge said her car was already parked in the garage. To avoid cleaning their garage out, her husband proposed to park it in the house. "I said there was no way he could. He said he could," Jessica said. "So he opened the double doors and had it in. I was amazed that it could fit. He had it in with no problems." Dorian was skirting Florida's coast recently, narrowly missing Jacksonville as it heads northward along the Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina coastlines. The Category 2 storm has devastated the Bahamas, where rescue crews have only begun taking the full measure of the damage. With the car in the kitchen, Jessica had to move around it to cook and serve dinner.

Sir,

About 10 years ago residents of Tilaknagar made a request to convert Umar Khayam Road as one of the model streets since it was an important road that connected to the world famous Jumboo Savari route at Bamboo Bazaar junction on New Sayyaji Rao Road.

Respecting the citizens' demand, after inspections, Umar Khayam Road was selected to be converted as a model street; a 'file' was opened. Nothing happened for a few years. With lots of patience and perseverance, the undersigned followed the 'file' and with the help of a few proactive officials, was able to get the footpaths laid with ornamental concrete blocks and after following up the 'file' again, was able to make the authorities lay fresh tar road.

Though there was a proposal to cut the decade-old trees for widening the footpath, residents were able to save them and also made the authorities provide pits around trees for rain water percolation.

During another two years, the footpath was dug up for laying various types of cables like electricity, water and mobile. The designed blocks were laid back/ relaid and to enable erection of ornamental lamp-posts, necessary concrete platforms were also constructed. Even now the skeletons can be seen.

Then nothing happened; but after sometime, the footpath was dug up, some electricity cables were laid, another set of concrete platforms were constructed, some designed coloured lamp-posts were erected.

Even after many months, the lamp-posts have not been fitted with necessary ornamental electrical fittings for showcasing the street as a model street. Instead, one of the lamp-posts — right opposite to Ward No.25 office/ Canara Bank, Tilak Nagar Branch, has fallen and is dangerously leaning towards the compound wall of Deaf and Dumb School. I do not know how many more years the residents have to wait till the model street comes to life and ornamental lights glow.

I only wish before 2019 Dasara procession passes on New Sayyaji Rao Road, this 'model street lamp post' will be straightened and lights will glow.

Training commences for Mounted Police

Mysuru, Sept.10- With Dasara round the corner, the authorities have already begun the rehearsal for Jumboo Savari with the elephants being taken on a morning walk on Raja Marga from Mysore Palace North Gate to the Bannimantap Grounds.

Similarly, the officials began rehearsals for the tasks that will be performed by Mounted Police, especially for the horses that accompany the elephants throughout the Jumboo Savari on Vijayadashami.

The horses were taken close to Dasara elephants to ensure both get acclimatised with each other so that they could walk together during the rehearsal as well on the day of Dasara procession without giving room for any untoward incident.

As horses came near 'Arjuna', the Howdah-elephant greeted them by lifting its trunk as a welcome gesture. The officials are expected to begin the rehearsal of both elephants and Mounted Police soon.

Second batch of Dasara Jumbos arrives in city

Mysuru, Sept.10- With Dasara festivities hardly 19 days away, the second batch of Dasara jumbos arrived here yesterday.

The seven elephants — Balarama, Kaveri, Vikrama, Gopi, Durgaparameshwari, Jayaprakash and Lakshmi — were traditionally welcomed into the city Palace after performing puja to them.

However, Balarama had arrived in city on Sunday and was brought to the Palace along with the second batch of elephants.

The first batch of six elephants is camping since their arrival here on Aug.22. With the arrival of second batch of six jumbos along 'Balarama' the entire squad of 13 Dasara jumbos will undergo training for Jumboo Savari.

The 61-year-old elephant Balarama, which used to arrive in the first batch till last year, had successfully carried the Golden Howdah for 14 times in a row.

Balarama, who is sheltered at Mattigodu camp, has been participating in Dasara festivities for the past 23 years and is one of the oldest Jumbos in the squad.

The 46-year-old Vikram from Dubare camp has been donning the role of 'Pattada Aane,' participating in the Palace rituals, since the last four years.

Gopi, 37 years, also from Dubare camp, has been taking part in Dasara since the past nine years.

Jayaprakash, 57 years, belongs to Ramapura camp and is making its debut this year.

The 17-year-old female elephant Lakshmi is the youngest in the batch and belongs to Ramapura camp.

Kaveri, 41 years, is from Dubare camp and 52-year-old Durgaparameshwari is from K. Gudi camp.

However, elephant Rohit, who was in the original list of Dasara Jumbos, was dropped due to his mischievous attitude, it is learnt.

However, Forest officials, who denied this, said that 12 elephants are required for Dasara procession and an additional elephant has been added. As all the elephants are found healthy, the elephant Rohit was not brought to the city, they said.

MLA S.A. Ramdas, Palace Board Deputy Director T.S. Subramanya, Corporator B.V. Manjunath, DCF (Wildlife) Alexander and other officials were present during the welcoming of Jumbos.

One-year-old falls off jeep in Kerala forest; crawls to safety

Thiruvananthapuram, Sept. 10- A toddler fell off a moving jeep in Idukki, Kerala, on Sunday night and escaped by trying to crawl to a ticket counter several metres away. Parents of the baby — a one-year-old girl — who were in the jeep had fallen asleep during their trip from Palani, Tamil Nadu, and did not realise the mishap until they were another 45 kilometres away. Luckily, the Forest Department had been alert and saved the baby, taking her to a hospital for first aid, before the worried parents came back for the child. An employee at the check-post saw something crawling, and went nearby to check. This was when the employee that realised it was a baby and immediately alerted higher officials in the Forest Department including the Munnar Wildlife Warden.

CCTV footage from the Rajamala check-post inside a reserve forest in Idukki district, where the incident happened, shows the baby crawling over to a metal railing. The video shows the baby crawling, then pausing to take rest, before resuming her crawl. She tries to climb over the railing, but is unable to manoeuvre over it. She then crawls around the railing — perhaps towards the light in the check post. It takes her nearly 20 minutes to reach the middle of the road. "It was around 10 pm when the baby crawled over to the ticket counter at Rajamala check-post in Munnar," says R. Lekshmi, Munnar Wildlife Warden. "When I went over, there were minor injuries on her head and forehead and blood on her nose. We called the Police and the baby was taken to the general hospital for first aid," she adds. "She also had a chain and bangles on her. The baby must have crawled to the ticket counter, seeing the light," Lekshmi adds.

The Police officials immediately alerted all Police stations in the region. Meanwhile her father Sathish and the rest of the family reached their house in Kambilikandam and realised that the baby was missing.

"They were two families travelling together, returning from a trip to Palani, where the baby's hair was offered. They were nearing one of the homes in Kambilikandam when they realised the baby was missing," says the Munnar Police.

The worried parents started crying on the road, which is when a Police patrolling vehicle was passing by. When the Police enquired, they were informed about the missing baby. By then, the Kambilikandam Police station had got a message about the child recovered in Rajamala. "The parents went to the Vellathooval Police station, whose officials contacted the Munnar station. Once the parents came for the baby by 1 am, we confirmed they were her parents and returned the child," says the Munnar Police.

TUBAL FACTOR INFERTILITY

Fallopian tube plays a very crucial and important role in fertility. Fertilization of gametes, that is the meeting of the egg and the sperm, happens in the fallopian tube. Additionally many reproductive functions such as sperm transport and capacitation, egg retrieval and transport, embryo storage , nourishment and transport also happen through the fallopian tubes. Damage in tubes is responsible for 25-35% of infertility.

Fallopian tubes can be assessed by various methods like hysterosalpingography (HSG), tubal cannulation with advanced hysterosalpingography, sonosalpingography or laparoscopy. Although laparoscopy is the gold standard technique for assessment and treatment of blocked tubes, it is not the only technique that many doctors would recommend you to undergo in the initial evaluation. HSG is the preferred initial method of evaluation of fallopian tubes. Laparoscopy may be suggested if HSG yields doubtful results of tubal patency. Causes of tubal blocks may include infections like tuberculosis or chlamydia; mechanical blocks like polyps, mucous plugs or intrauterine synechiae or other conditions like endometriosis.

Dr. Devika Gunasheela

Treatment for severely blocked tubes

Invitro fertilization is an effective option in females having severely damaged fallopian tubes. Invitro fertilization involves fertilization of egg and sperm of the couple outside the body in the IVF laboratory to obtain viable embryos, which are later placed into the female partners' uterus to achieve a pregnancy. At Gunasheela Fertility Centre, Bangalore and Mysore we offer advanced laparoscopic surgeries for correction of mild to moderate tubal problems, which would help infertile couple conceive through smaller treatments and natural methods. We also have a state of the art IVF laboratory service with very well qualified and experienced clinicians and embryologists to carry out fruitful IVF programmes yielding success rates as high as 60% in couples having severe tubal damage. World as seen from downside-up

Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

I have hardly ever used, in more than two decades of writing this column, the word this sentence begins with — the first person singular I. Change is the stuff of life and the time for change comes when you are ordered to lie flat on your back motionless. Human bodies are not engineered to lie still, but doctor's commands can make most impossible things possible.

Lying immobile on your back has two advantages. First, it teaches you the virtues of obeying medical people and thereby hastening your return to a normal perpendicular life. Second, it gives you a whole new view of the world, shall we say a downside-up view?

This is exhilarating. You lie flat on your back and realise that you can achieve a state of motionlessness by thinking about Karna, the real hero of Mahabharata. Karna had gone to Parasurama in the guise of a Brahmin and learned the full range of archery skills from the master. When the master slept in the disciple's lap, an insect bit deep into Karna's thigh. The pain was unbearable but he remained motionless lest the teacher be disturbed. A flow of blood woke up Parasurama and he realised that only a Kshatriya could bear the pain Karna suffered. He cursed Karna for pretending to be a Brahmin, but if we read between the lines we can see that Parasurama did recognise Karna's higher qualities.

Remembering those qualities will help you lie flat on your back to the satisfaction of any doctor. You will realise that your eyes are free to roam though not beyond the ceiling of your room. But you will also realise that if you stare long enough at the ceiling, you will gradually see the ceiling smiling at you and, Cheshire Cat style, slowly disappearing into a bright blue sky, bringing an affable universe into your viewfinder. You are suddenly free, like a bird, to fly in whichever direction your fancy takes you, to see things from altogether different perspectives, to discover what you did not know of before, to enjoy the limitlessness of the human imagination. You find yourself singing, This is it. Here I stand. I'm the light of the world. I feel grand.

The through-the-ceiling view-finder really empowers you. You see the insignificance of many things many people find significant. You see the hollowness of VIPs and the emptiness of their posturings. You see the wisdom of the neglected man on the street. You understand the ephemerality of wealth and the nobility of those who are satisfied with what they have.

In today's world everything is business, geared to the primary aim of making profit. People are in politics to profit from the business of politics.

People are in education because education has become enormously profitable. Customised fake medical degrees are available online. The Delhi Medical Council identified 422 proven quacks between 2012 and 2015 and reported them to the Police. The Police did nothing. The Council's estimate is that at least two lakh quacks are working as doctors in India, 50,000 of them in Delhi alone. Now we understand why Delhi is so sick.

The quality of life depends on the quality of values we cherish. Does giving bring more satisfaction than taking? Do we add something to other people's lives? Do we sustain things that cannot be bought? Self-promotion is not leadership. For a President or Prime Minister to project himself as the font of all wisdom is not wisdom. True wisdom lies in the words: "Give and it shall be given unto you." Such truisms become clear when you are in the downside-up posture.

From downside-up you can recognise fakes more easily. Which is a big thing these days when fakes rule all walks of life. Israel fakes casualties in their own ranks to mislead Hizbullah fighters. Trump's America fakes social media accounts to surveil foreigners, precisely what the US has been accusing other Governments of doing. The BJP has mastered the art of faking patriotism. Does the Congress fake anything? Nobody knows because nobody cares.

In the end, all that matters is the quality of life we ensure for ourselves and for others. The quality of life depends on the quality of values we cherish. Does giving bring more satisfaction than taking? Do we add something to other people's lives? Do we sustain things that cannot be bought?

Self-promotion is not leadership. For a President or Prime Minister to project himself as the font of all wisdom is not wisdom. True wisdom lies in the words: "Give and it shall be given unto you."

Such truisms become clear when you are in the downside-up posture. I thought I could get a more accurate view of the world from my vantage point. Then I realised that the world has been upside-down for quite a while. What happens when downside-up meets upside-down? All well because it is the natural state in India.

Is there an end to Kodagu's flood misery ?

By Prasad Sampigekatte

Madikeri, Sept.10- Kodagu District has been battered by nature's fury consecutively since the last two years and it looks like there is no immediate sign of relief from this misery. Nature is posing challenging questions year-after-year and the State Government and the District Administration are finding it extremely difficult to find solutions to this nature's onslaught. As a result, properties, agriculture, horticulture, cattle and people are all become victims every year.

This year too, there the District has suffered losses worth crores of rupees. It looks like the relief operations can commence only after rain relents. Landslides, uprooting of trees, damages to roads and highways are all common and various Departments have suffered huge losses.

In this year's nature fury, 16 lives have been lost and four have gone missing. The dead victims' families have been disbursed Rs.5 lakh as compensation amounting to Rs.65 lakh, while there is confusion in three cases identifying the dependents of the victims' families and hence the compensation has been withheld.

Meanwhile, the search by the local administration for missing persons in Virajpet Taluk's Thora Village where the Manipare Hill collapsed is still continuing and it is proving a futile exercise. In the light of this, the District Administration has sent a proposal to the State Government that the four missing persons have been declared dead and compensation amount of Rs.5 lakh each must be paid to the victims' families.

House damages: Due to torrential rain, floods, landslides and other causes, a total of 2,068 houses have been damaged. Out of this, 363 houses in three taluks have suffered extensive damages, 643 houses have sustained about 25 per cent to 75 per cent damages. A total of Rs. 2.58 crore has been disbursed so far for 1,032 houses at the rate of Rs.25,000 per house, while Rs. 1.23 lakh at Rs. 4,100 per hut has been disbursed.

The responsibility of disbursing Rs. 1 lakh each to remaining 643 houses and Rs. 5 lakh each to 363 houses has been entrusted to Rajiv Gandhi Rural Housing Corporation Limited. This work is progress, informed the District officials. Apart from this, steps have been take to provide victims' families a minimum of Rs.5,000 as rent allowance for ten months.

Relief Centres: 11 Hoblis, 54 villages and a total of 119 places have suffered extensive damages. About 8,211 people were provided shelter at 50 relief centres. After the rains subsided there are only two relief centres at Hudikeri and Karadigodu where 212 victims are taking shelter.

Materials worth Rs. 4.18 crore that includes groceries, medicines and Rs.10,000 each have been disbursed to about 4,148 shelter-less people who have returned to their homes. Nearly 76 cattle heads have also lost their lives, rains and landslides. A total of Rs.10.72 lakh has been disbursed as relief.

Crop loss: Agriculture and horticulture crops grown in 1,18,975 hectares of land have been destroyed thus resulting in a loss of Rs.266.52 crore and it is said that the loss will go up further. Even to this day it is raining heavily in many parts and the crop loss is increasing. Already applications are being received and in the coming days, more information on the losses will be known.

Besides, many Departments have suffered losses including PWD, Panchayat Raj Engineering Division, Rural Water Supply, Minor Irrigation, CESC, Urban Development Department, National Highway Roads, Karnataka Urban Water Supply and Drainage Board and Major Irrigation Department.

The total losses have been estimated at Rs. 332 crore. Money has been released to these Departments to take up urgent works.

Overall, the people in the District have become victims of nature's fury since the last two years which is also reflecting on the severe economic conditions as the lives of agriculturists and horticulturists are in total disarray. The reality is that it will take quite a long time for the District to return to its glorious days of the past.

Geologists warn of more landslips in future

Landslide at Talacauvery caused due to multiple contour trenches and cutting of slopes

A view of the landslide near Talacauvery temple. Picture right shows old landslide scar along the right flank of the active landslide. The temporary shops have to be removed.

Madikeri, Sept. 10 (Akshay & BCT)- The Geological Survey of India (GSI), a Government of India body, has concluded that slope modification without proper precautions is the main reason for recent landslides in parts of Kodagu. The scientists, who have conducted extensive field study and research, have not ruled out the possibility of future landslides in the same places.

'A note on preliminary post disaster studies in and around Virajpet and Bhagamandala areas, Kodagu' has been prepared by Geologists from State unit of GSI Sunandan Basu and Kapil Singh after the Kodagu District Administration requested the GSI to inspect the areas hit by landslips. The Geologists visited the areas on Aug. 17 and 18 and were accompanied by State Government officials.

The Geologists examined landslide and land-crack patterns at Ayyappa Betta of Virajpet, Nehru Nagar in Virajpet, Virajpet – Heggala road (opposite rock quarry) at Thora in Virajpet, Kedamulloor Village, Virajpet, Brahmagiri Hills, Talacauvery Temple and Korangala near Bhagamandala.

In the preliminary report, the Geologists observed that the Ayyappa Hill area falls under highly susceptibility class. Construction of houses by cutting and benching of the hill slope without proper support has destabilised the slope. As this area is already highly susceptible to landslides, this kind of slope modifications without proper precautions is likely to trigger landslides in the future also, the scientists observed.

Likewise, Nehru Nagar, Thora, Talacauvery Temple and Korangala areas fall under moderate to highly susceptibility class when it comes to landslides. Here too, unbridled construction of houses by carving hill slope has resulted in land destabilisation. At Talacauvery, unsupported slope cut for road widening has destabilised the entire slope and future landslides cannot be ruled out. "There are multiple contour trenches made by Department of Forest at the mid slope for conservation of water and prevention of soil erosion. These trenches are aligned parallel to the crack and situated near the upslope of the cracks. It cannot be ruled out that the trenches with standing water may have allowed infiltration into the overburden material. Slope cut for road expansion and the cut slope is left unsupported," the report stated on the geo-scientific causes of surface cracks at Talacauvery.

The Geologists have suggested certain remedial measures like slope grading, construction of retaining wall with weep holes and plantation on the slope. This will increase the toe support to the unstable slope. Cracks observed atop the hilly areas should be filled preferably with impervious material to reduce chances of water infiltration into the overburden material. Filled cracks must be monitored regularly and in case of any movement, authorities must be informed immediately.

These landslides were also caused due to excessive rains. Up to Aug. 11 this year, Kodagu has experienced slightly deficient rainfall compared to normal monsoon. The rainfall data shows that the district received heavy rainfall from Aug. 5 to Aug. 11, the report mentions.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, K.V. Maruthi, Director, GSI, said that the GSI team has prepared and submitted a preliminary report. "The field results carried out in 2018 after the massive devastation is yet to be finalised and the report will be submitted soon to Kodagu DC and will also be published in the GSI official website," he said.

On the latest cracks being observed at Brahmagiri Hill and Gajarajagiri Hill, he said that if the Kodagu Administration requests a survey and analysis, the team will study the cracks.

Mysore Airport Flight occupancy rates touch 80 to 90 percent

Mysuru, Sept.10 (RK&NNN)- Mysore Airport is getting busier by the day as the occupancy rate of the flights of both incoming and outgoing is going up every day and is touching as much as 80 percent to 90 percent in some of the flights. This has triggered a new interest among airlines keen to operate from the city.

The demand for flights from Mysuru started once Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha took interest and saw to it that under the UDAN (Ude Desh Ka Aam Nagarik) scheme the flights were introduced and this saw a healthy rise in the occupancy rate over a period of time, said R. Manjunath, Director, Mysore Airport, speaking to Star of Mysore.

The average occupancy rate of flights to Hyderabad is at 94 percent, while it was 86 percent in case of flights to Chennai. Occupancy rates of flights to Kochi and Goa introduced recently under UDAN 3 was also above 72 percent. All flights operating out of Mysuru are ATR type of planes with a capacity of 72 passengers, he said. However, the only region where there is not much occupancy is the Mysuru-Bengaluru flight which has seen an occupancy rate of just 53 percent, he added.

There are plans to introduce flights to Belagavi and Mangaluru after Dasara period and once the flights to these cities start operating then the average occupancy will go up further, he said. It is not only the local businessmen and industrialists who are flying out or landing in Mysore Airport but many tourists and other travellers are using the flights for quicker and easy reach, said Manjunath.

The reason for people choosing to fly to either Hyderabad, Chennai, Goa or Kochi is because many will catch connecting flights to other destinations that do not have direct access from Mysuru, he reasoned.

He also said that during this Dasara season, the occupancy rate could go up by another 15 to 20 percent as more tourist arrivals are expected.

However, what is confirmed is the introduction of three more flights once the winter timetable kicks in from October 27.

Indigo will operate a direct flight from Hyderabad to Mysuru and back while TruJet has a slot for a flight from Chennai to Mysuru. The same flight will connect the city with Belagavi giving the people of Mysuru and surrounding areas an easy and a convenient air link to the north Karnataka region, said Manjunath.

There are 10 flights operating out of Mysuru as on date and it is going to go up to 16 flights once three additional flights commence.

Minister C.T. Ravi launches BJP membership drive in city

Mysuru, Sept.10 (RKB&VNS)- BJP is the only party which follows democratic principles while conducting its organisational elections, said Tourism Minister C.T. Ravi, here this morning.

Speaking after inaugurating the party membership drive at the City BJP Head Quarters at Sachin Rajendra Bhavan in Chamarajapuram, he said that Bharatiya Janata Party, which does not believe in family politics, follows democratic ideologies while choosing the party heads.

Taking a dig at the Opposition parties, Minister Ravi said that the Congress party had only been headed by the members of one family starting from the first PM Jawaharlal Nehru till the latest of Sonia Gandhi being appointed as interim President of All India Congress Committee (AICC).

"Even the Samajwadi Party is also under the family rule," he said and did not miss the chance to mention about former PM H.D. Deve Gowda and family.

"Few people posing to be the flag-bearers of secularism have only worked to help their family members and not for the welfare of the State. 'Dodda' Gowdru did nothing but practised casteism. Their party's leadership was given to 'Chikka' Gowdru (former CM H.D. Kumaraswamy) and now the 'Mari' Gowdru (Nikhil Kumaraswamy) wants to spearhead the party. Yet, they claim to have not practised family politics" he said.

Referring to BJP, he said that a person (Amit Shah), who was only a Booth Committee President in 1982, had now become Union Home Minister which only proves that the party believes in giving opportunities to deserving candidates who had striven hard to strengthen the party from the grassroots.

MLAs S.A. Ramdas and L. Nagendra, State BJP General Secretary M. Rajendra, former MLC and BJP State Spokesperson Ashwath Narayan, City BJP President B.H. Manjunath, former KEA Chairman B.P. Manjunath and others were present during the occasion.

He further said that he will see to it that the tourism potential of the State is fully tapped.

Replying to a query on the fate of Disney Land Project at KRS, Ravi claimed that the project was envisaged by Water Resources Department and it is up to that Department to decide on the fate of the project.

A horsey task

Watching the Mayor pilot the procession astride a horse would be four to five lakh spectators inside the Palace premises and thousands more lining the streets along the route. If Arjuna, carrying the Golden Howdah and the idol of Goddess Chamundeshwari inside, is the cynosure of all eyes, the Mayor too is a centre of attraction. And this time, it is a woman Mayor for Mysuru and she will be watched by millions including those watching her on TVs and giant LED screens set up in city.

Mayors, Mysuru's First Citizens, leading Jumboo Savari on horseback is a more than 30-year-old tradition. Usually, a Mayor gets at least two months learn to ride a horse before Dasara. Pushpalatha has less than a month to learn the feat and complete that successfully. She has to rein in her fears and ride the horse.

Wearing salwar-kameez, a rider's coat, and helmet and riding boots, Pushpalatha Jagannath practices rigorously and she is assisted by Reserve Sub-Inspector R. Suresh, ARSI Rangarasu and V. Venkatesh. She will be riding Indian-bred stud 'Toral' on the procession day and she now practices with a horse that is named 'Nobel Laureate'. A few days before Vijayadashami, she will also ride and practice on Toral.

She will learn the basics of horse riding –holding the reins and controlling the horse through the straps and use of her legs. To acclimatise the horse with the rider and the rider with the horse, Pushpalatha is taught first to feed the horse with her hand. She is told to carefully feed it vegetables and horse gram as there are chances of the animal biting her hand. Later, she climbs the horse from a concrete platform specially set up for the purpose. Gradually, she will learn to mount the horse on her own, the trainers said.

Along with the Mayor, the Mounted Police team that performs during the famed Torchlight Parade at Bannimantap as part of the grand finale of Dasara.

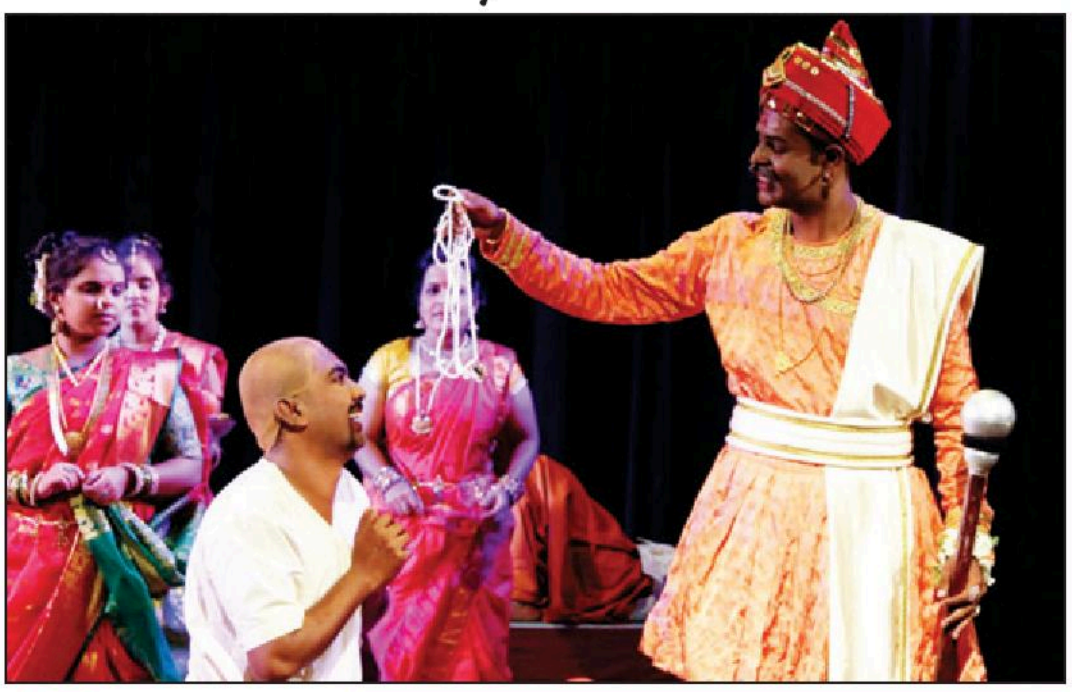
After the portion of the building collapsed, the offices of Chief Fire officer was shifted to Hebbal and the office of Regional Fire Officer was shifted to Bannimantap.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Ghashiram Kotwal'

Where History meets Literature



The play will be staged at Mini Theatre in Kalamandira premises at 6.30 pm today.

Sanchalana Trust performed the play Ghashiram Kotwal as part of their concluding day in the one-month theatre camp conducted by the Trust in Mysuru recently. Ghashiram Kotwal is written by playwright Vijay Tendulkar in 1972 as a response to the rise of a local political party, Shiv Sena, in Maharashtra. The play is a political satire, written as historical drama. It is based on the life of Nana Phadnavis (1741 - 1800), one of the prominent Ministers in the court of the Peshwa of Pune and Ghashiram Kotwal, the Police Chief of city.

Its theme is how men in power give rise to ideologies to serve their purposes, and later destroy them when they become useless. It was first performed on 16th December 1972, by the Progressive Drama Association in Pune. Jabbar Patel's production of the play in 1973 is considered a classic in Modern Indian Theatre.

The play begins with an invocation to Lord Ganesha. Then the Brahmins of Pune introduce themselves and we can see the morally corrupt state of affairs in Pune. Nana Phadnavis, who is the Dewan (Chief Secretary) of Pune, is also corrupt and visits the lavani dancer. Ghashiram is working with the lavani dancer. Ghashiram being a Brahmin goes to collect alms at the Peshwa's festival the next day. However, he is ill-treated there and is charged with pick-pocketing and imprisoned for the offence. He then decides to take revenge. So the play continues on to reach the next part of this play.

Ghashiram barters his own daughter to get the post of Kotwal (Police Chief) of Pune from Nana. Having got the post, he begins to enforce strict rules in the city. He starts asking for permits for everything and starts throwing people in jail for the smallest offences. The situation goes out of hand steadily and the Brahmins then complain to the Peshwa. The Peshwa summons Nana who orders Ghashiram to be killed.

Though hailed as one of the greatest plays of our times, the play as written by the playwright leaves a lot to be desired in terms of neutrality and giving an honest account of both sides. Violence and evil seems to be the ruling force as there's little else given to the audience to sample.

Historical accuracy and giving our past rulers their due takes a serious beating as Nana Phadnavis is caricatured as a lecherous old man who chases teenage girls and has time to think about little else. The Brahmins of Pune are portrayed as drunken whoremongers who spend all their with dancing girls.

The playwright makes his hatred for the Brahmin class quite evident in the whole play at every juncture and the lack of a strong female character hurts the play and makes it monotonous.

All the negatives of the play seem to be balanced out by the actual performance by the team. The performers on stage do not look like novices at all and most looked a couple of plays old to the stage. The actors seemed comfortable on the stage with ample support from the music pit and a few on stage who could actually sing quite well.

Jeevan Kumar, the director, is an alumnus of Ninasam Theatre School and has done an excellent job as always with the direction as well as the lighting. His work is always a treat to watch and the same was reflected even in this play. The standout performances were the actors who donned the characters of Nana Phadnavis and Ghashiram.

Certain scenes in the play were quite moving where the Brahmin was branded with hot iron for stealing and also the Poona inhabitants picking money off the ground like beggars.

The performances on the stage were complimented equally by the music pit. At the helm in the music pit was Srinivas Bhat, retired senior artiste from Rangayana and also Krishna Chaitanya. The unique part of the music was the use of the Australian aboriginal instrument, Didgeridoo to accentuate cruelty and inhuman qualities in both Nana and Ghashiram. It was an indeed a treat for the ears.

It was an evening well spent for Mysureans with audiences filling up seats up to almost 90% in spite of incessant rains. The play was a success not only for the team but also for the vibrant culture of Mysuru.

Competent & alluring...

By Dr. Padmavathi Narasimhan

Sushira, V. Deshikachar's Academy of Music, conducted its 19th anniversary for four days from Aug.13 to 16 at Mysore Vasudevacharya Bhavana in memory of late V. Deshikachar. N.J. Nandini from Kerala gave a vocal concert on the 13th. She was accompanied on violin by H.N. Bhaskar, on mridanga by Anoor Anantha Krishna Sharma on kanjira by Sunad Anoor.

Nandini has a voice not really suited for classical music but she has trained it well with dedicated practice to produce sound music. Right from 'Brochevarevarura' in Khamas (Mysore Vasudevacharya) to the tail piece javali in Behag she proved her talent in all aspects of Manodharma - be it alapana, swara kalpana, tana or pallavi rendering. Nandini had chosen some rare compositions for the occasion. 'Gangeya Vasanadhara Padmanabha' in Hameer Kalyani by Maharaja Swati Tirunal was rendered with bhava and Mysore Vasudevacharya's 'Idi Samayamu Brovarada' in Natakapriya was preceded by a well-structured Alapana, ornamented with a neraval at 'Karunato Gajarajuni Moralida Brovakaleda' and kalpana swaras with grahabheda swaras in Shankarabharana. 'Tyagaraja's 'shobhillu saptaswara' was delivered with good speed maintaining the beauty of the composition.

The RTP in Hamsanandi was satisfying with appealing Hindustani tinges in its alapana and also a grahabheda in Hindola. 'Nenje ninai ambe' pallavi set to Khanda Nade Adi Tala was expertly rendered. 'Muruhanin Maru Peru Alagai' was sung with aesthetic sangatis. Nandini concluded the concert with M.D. Ramanathan's heart-touching composition 'Sagara shayana vibho' in Desh.

Nandini has amazing talent and by virtue of her sustained practice, she is able to create divine music. She can work more on Sahitya part of the compositions to make them more appealing to the listeners.

Bhaskar was not only supportive on violin but also creative adding essence in each part of the concert. Anoor Ananta Krishna Sharma was encouraging and favourable and Sunad followed his uncle faithfully.

Rashid Khan spins Afghanistan to famous Test victory

Chattogram, Sept.10 (UNI)- Rashid Khan-led Afghanistan thrashed Bangladesh by 224 runs in the one-off Test match and registered their second win in Test cricket at Zahur Ahmed Chowdhury Stadium here yesterday. Leading from the front for Afghanistan, Captain Rashid Khan took three of the last four wickets as the visitors bowled out Bangladesh for 173 runs in the second innings.

At the beginning of day-five, Afghanistan needed four wickets to win. After a delayed start, Bangladesh resumed their innings with Soumya Sarkar and Shakib Al Hasan were at the crease. The hosts were given only 18.3 overs to survive after play resumed in the final session following a rain break but they succumbed with three overs to spare. After Shakib's wicket, Sarkar, along with Mehidy Hasan tried to prevent any further damage.

They were successful to an extent as Bangladesh managed to prevent losing any more wickets in the last session. However, Rashid struck again to dismiss Mehidy. With Mehindy's wicket, Afghanistan were only two wickets away from the victory. Once again, Rashid bowled a brilliant spell and took the two wickets quickly.

The leg-spinner got rid of Soumya Sarkar as the last wicket to spark off wild celebrations among the Afghanistan players.

Rashid finished with 6/49 while Zahir Khan picked up three wickets. Mohammad Nabi chipped in with one wicket. Afghanistan had gained Test status last year and had played just two Tests before this — losing to India in their maiden match and beat Ireland in its only other Tests.

With this win, Rashid Khan became the youngest captain in the history of Test cricket to record a maiden win in the format.

The Afghanistan skipper also became the first player to record a fifty and 10-plus wickets in his debut game as captain in Test cricket. Meanwhile, Bangladesh become the first team to lose a Test against 10 different nations.

'Urgent need to set up Open Universities Association at national level'

KSOU Vice-Chancellor Dr. S. Vidyashankar and others at the valedictory function of the of the All India Open Universities Vice-Chancellors' Conference organised by KSOU at Cauvery Auditorium in city on Friday.

Mysuru, Sept.10 (MK&NNN)- There is an urgent need for setting up of an 'Open Universities Association' at the national level to solve many issues plaguing such Universities, said Karnataka State Open University (KSOU) Vice-Chancellor Dr. S. Vidyashankar.

He was speaking at the valedictory of the All India Open Universities Vice-Chancellors' Conference organised by KSOU at Cauvery auditorium here on Friday and said that only when the problems are solved could the level of confidence in Open Universities go up.

"A few of the Conventional Universities have started online courses. Even KSOU is thinking of starting one. There should be a give and take policy among the Universities. There is no doubt that by imbibing the best practises of other Universities, KSOU will again come to the forefront among the Open Universities in the country," he said.

In this two-day conference, the teachers learnt many new things including learning about new courses. The views discussed here would be shared with the Open Universities all over the country, said Dr. Vidyashankar.

Bhopal's Madhya Pradesh Open University Vice-Chancellor Prof. Jayant Sonwalkar said that there was much more demand for Distance Learning now than earlier.

Countries like Germany and England, which offer Distance Education Programmes, are depending on Indian students. If the Universities that are in the country can offer quality Distance Education, then the admissions in our Open Universities will automatically go up, he added.

When it comes to basic amenities and human resources, KSOU is no way inferior to other Universities. The teaching and non-teaching faculty here must forget the happenings in the past as a bad dream and work hard to maintain high quality standards.

If that happens then there is no doubt that in the next two years, KSOU will regain its top spot among the Open Universities in the country, said Prof. Sonwalkar.

Tamil Nadu Open University Vice-Chancellor Prof. K. Parthasarathy, former KSOU VC Dr. N.S. Ramegowda and others were present.

'Environmental destruction continues amid existing laws'

Principal District and Sessions Judge S.K. Vontigodi lighting the lamp to inaugurate the district-level workshop on 'Laws related to environment conservation and consumer protection' at Mahajana College premises in Jayalakshmipuram recently.

Mysuru, Sept.10 (RKB&US)- District Legal Services Authority (DLSA), National Service Scheme (NSS) wing of University of Mysore (UoM) and Department of Environmental Science, Mahajana College, together had organised a district-level workshop on 'Laws related to environment conservation and consumer protection' at the College premises in Jayalakshmipuram here recently.

Inaugurating the programme, Principal District and Sessions Judge S.K. Vontigodi bemoaned that despite existence of laws to protect the environment, the destruction is still going on.

He attributed the recent natural calamities to the selfishness and greed of humans. The natural resources are being exploited which may one day lead to a point of no return, warned Vontigodi.

Switching to consumer protection, Vontigodi asked consumers to demand a receipt on every purchase made at a shop which is a right of every consumer.

He asserted that a consumer can always file a legal suit against the shop owner for poor quality of product purchased.

DLSA Member-Secretary B.P. Devamane, Mysore IQ Plus Academy Chairman Srikanth Bhat, College Principal Dr. S. Venkataram, CEO Dr. S.R. Ramesh and others were present.

Pejawar Seer Sri Vishwesha Theertha Swamiji seen releasing former MLC D. Madegowda's book Soorilladavarige Sooru 'Asha Mandira' at a ceremony held in city on Sunday. Former MLC D. Madegowda, Ramakrishna Ashram's Shantivratananda Swamiji, MLA L. Nagendra, Litterateur Dr. C.P. Krishnakumar, former Mayors P. Vishwanath and Sandesh Swamy and others look on.

Mysuru, Sept.10 (YDS&NNN)- "I am very happy to release the book written by D. Madegowda during the Chaturmasa period. He had effectively used the power that he got for the service of the society that benefitted the poor and the marginalised and achieved a lot," said Pejawar Seer Sri Vishwesha Theertha Swamiji.

He was speaking after releasing the book titled Soorilladavarige Sooru 'Asha Mandira' written by former MLC D. Madegowda at a function organised by Asha Mandira Okkuta in association with Samvahana Prakashana at the Town Hall here on Sunday.

Life is not just exercising power. As Sri Krishna has said once we are born we should serve the society and the nation. Man should not become selfish, one should see that others also grow with him or her. Only then will life be worth living. Hence, as Sri Krisha has said, our life should be full of sacrifices, said the Seer.

Educationist H.L. Satish speaking about the book said that Madegowda seeing that many did not have a roof over their head provided houses to them through his 'Asha Mandira' scheme. This helped thousands of poor people who remember him even today for his selfless service to the society.

Even though Madegowda was politically active, still the people of Mysuru did not support him. Even then he did not ignore the people of the city and during his tenure as the City Improvement Trust Board (CITB) Chairman for 18 months, through Asha Mandira scheme he distributed houses and sites to thousands of people. Through this scheme he became popular as 'Mane, Mane Madegowda.' Such a scheme had not happened in the past nor has it happened now, said Satish.

Madegowda has said that he is not a writer did not know how to write. But one should not forget the sensation that Asha Mandira created all over the country. He has written this book so that the future generation could use it as a model for the betterment of society, said Satish.

He faced several challenges and implemented the Asha Mandira scheme. He identified the poor people by visiting their houses gave them allotment letters, got them bank loans and along with the plans of the houses, he assisted them in every way. This shows his social justice and concern for the poor and this is the reason why Madegowda is remembered even after so many years, he said.

The governments listen to the suggestions of the revered Pejawar Seer and hence he should bring to the notice of the government various people-friendly programmes, he said and added that there were more than 80 photographs in the book and each picture describes the situation prevalent then.

Love should flow like water

Love is like water. If water is stored in a tank it starts stinking after a few days and gives rise to worms and insects. If water is flowing then the place will be clean. Even love is like flowing water. Just as water flows and joins the sea, our love should flow and reach the feet of the Lord. Love should break all shackles of caste, creed and religion and touch every person. Madegowda is a revolutionary who through his Asha Mandira scheme provided houses to everyone and thus is an inspiration for the future generation.

Hotel creates awareness on traffic rules

Mysuru, Sept.10 (SBD&VNS)- The steep hike in the traffic penalties has sent shock waves among the public. Those who had taken the rules lightly have now begun to panic and are seen running helter-skelter to ensure all documents are intact to avoid being penalised.

Many have taken to social media to create awareness among the public. Apoorva Darshini, a hotel located on JLB Road in city, has been creating awareness among its customers to wear helmets and also to follow the traffic rules by printing same in its bills (see pic).

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Hotel Owner Suresh Bharadwaj said if a person followed traffic rules there is no need to worry about hefty fine. "Many commuters do not wear helmets while riding two-wheelers and end up paying fine to the traffic cops. They are often seen cribbing about the fine while sipping a cup of tea or coffee. Wearing helmets not only avoids people from paying hefty fines but also saves lives," he said.

Two cubs among three leopards found dead

Nanjangud, Sept.10 (RS&DM)- A four-year-old leopardess and two cubs were found dead under suspicious circumstances at Hallare village in Nanjangud taluk yesterday.

While the carcass of a cub and mother leopard were found in the field of one Mohammad Pasha, the carcass of another cub was found in another agricultural field abutting it, belonging to Chennananjappa. Both the cubs (a male and a female) are said to be about five-months-old.

However, the reason behind their death is yet to be ascertained as the viscera has been collected and sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory in Mysuru for tests.

DCF (Mysuru Division) Dr. Prashanth Kumar said that he received information about the dead leopards in the afternoon. It was found that the carcass of a cub and mother lay on one field and that of another cub at another field abutting it.

There were neither injury marks on the bodies nor any attempt to remove the body parts, especially the claws. Upon post-mortem, it was found that the stomach of the leopard and two cubs were empty, he said.

He further said that as the pugmarks of the leopards were not found in nearby fields, there is a possibility that the dead animals might have been dumped here.

While it is confirmed that it is a case of unnatural death, the exact cause will be known from the lab report, he added.

Sources said that the distance between the carcasses was very little and no injury marks were found on them. It is suspected that the wild cats might have been poisoned to death on Saturday.

WORD OF THE DAY

Extemporize

Pronunciation: ik-STEMP-puh-ryze.
Meaning: To do something extemporaneously : improvise; especially : to compose, perform, or speak extemporaneously; to get along in a makeshift manner.
Origin: Extemporize means to say or do something on the spur of the moment, an appropriate meaning given the word's history. Extemporize was coined by adding the suffix -ize to Latin ex tempore, meaning "instantaneously" or "on the spur of the moment." Ex tempore, in turn, was formed by combining ex and the noun tempus, meaning "time." Incidentally, ex tempore was also borrowed wholesale into English (where it means "extemporaneously"). Other descendants of Latin ex tempore include the now rare extemporal and extemporary (both synonyms of extemporaneous), and as you have no doubt guessed by now, extemporaneous itself.
Example: "The name Cher Horowitz was extemporized by Wallace Shawn, who plays a teacher in 'Clueless.' Wallace Shawn is also Jewish, and he came up with the catchy Jewish-sounding designation for the film's star during a scene where he was taking attendance in the classroom." — Tamar Skydell, The Forward.

THE ODD WORD

Eau-de-nil
Pale green colour.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Everybody out

Meaning: An injunction to workers to 'down tools' come out on strike.
Origin: During the 1970s in the UK this phrase was synonymous with militant union activity. It was used when workers were called out on strike, although more often in drama and literature than in reality. The work that made the phrase known was the 1960s BBC sit-com 'The Rag Trade', where it became a catchphrase. The show was set in a clothing factory and virtually every episode included the shop-steward Paddy (Miriam Karlin) blowing a whistle and shouting "Everybody out!".
